Employers must make accommodations to disabled applicants and employees where the accommodation does not impose an undue hardship on the employer. Under Michigan law only, disabled employees and applicants may request an accommodation of their disability by notifying the firm in writing of the need for accommodation within 182 days of the date the disabled individual knows or should know that an accommodation is needed. This requirement does not apply to an individual's right under the Americans with Disabilities Act. Failure to properly notify the firm may preclude any claim that the employer failed to accommodate the disabled individual.

I waive any limitation periods to the contrary. I further agree that if I should bring any non-statutory action or claim arising out of my employment against the firm, in which the firm prevails, I will pay to the firm any and all such costs incurred by the firm in defense of said claims or actions, including attorney fees. Why are you being asked to complete this form?

Because we do business with the government, we must reach out to, hire, and provide equal opportunity to qualified people with disabilities.¹ To help us measure how well we are doing, we are asking you to tell us if you have a disability or if you ever had a disability. If you are applying for a job, any answer you give will be kept private and will not be used against you in any way.

Because a person may become disabled at any time, we are required to ask all of our employees to update their information every five years. You may voluntarily self-identify as having a disability on this form without fear of any punishment because you did not identify as having a disability earlier.
